

Your Music Festival Survival Guide : What you need to pack & WHY!

[] Sunnies

The sun won't stop shining just because you can't see. Cheap, so if you break them or lose them, you're good!

[] Hat(s)

Don't be boring; match your outfit! This mixes fashion with function too!

[] Flat Shoes

Like these converse, you want to be comfortable and be able to walk! Don't be that person complaining all day because you wore impractical shoes..If you're not a tennies kind of person try gladiators.

[] Blanket

Good for naps during sets, or sit while waiting for your band to come on. Be comfortable & chic. Something washable is a MUST.

[] Fan (With Mister)

All those hours in the sun, trust me, you'll thank me!

[] Empty Water Bottle

Most festivals have free water stations where you can fill up camel backs, or water bottles. A Yeti or thermos is your best bet. Ask to get ice, and you'll be sipping on cold water all day!

[] Sun-Screen

Damaged skin is no joke.

[] Bug Spray

If you live somewhere that has mosquitos, spray some before, and take a small can if you feel you might need extra protection. Better to be safe than sorry.

[] Hand Sanitizer

[] Toilet Paper

Imagine how many people are out there..portable bathrooms could be 1 of 2 things. Dirty and dirty..you don't want to be left in one without some backup!

[] Deodorant

This is not really that necessary, but if you know you sweat a lot, then it couldn't hurt.

[] Cash Money

It's great to have your cards, but sometimes the card machines stop working, or the vendor only accepts cash. Don't deny yourself kimchi fries and snow cones just because you forgot to bring money!

[] Portable Charger

You're phone battery will die. All those snap chats, down time web surfing (if you have signal) and texting friends (again, if you have signal) will completely drain your battery. You're phone will die!

[] Light Sweater

Just because the sun goes down, doesn't mean you need to!

[] Backpack

To carry everything...
